

Updated feature!

Consumer self-sign up

Allow your customers to sign up to the online portal without the need to send out invitations!

Customers can now register for an online account on their own terms, taking away the admin of sending sign up invitations.

Simply direct the customer to the consumer dashboard, where they can register their account.

All they need is their email address, unique sign-up code and postcode to sign up. The unique sign up code can be found under the customer's account details in Mabdeck.

Your online customers will then receive their statements and all other correspondence online, reducing your printing costs.

If you need any further information, please contact help@mabdeck.com.
